June 2011

Editorial

Linda Smith Rhoads 203

“Tried, Convicted, and Condemned in Almost Every Barr-room and Barber’s Shop”: Anti-Irish Prejudice in the Trial of Dominic Daley and James Halligan, Northampton, Massachusetts, 1806

Richard D. Brown 205

The Yankee Soldier’s Might: The District of Maine and the Reputation of the Massachusetts Militia, 1800–1812

Joshua M. Smith 234

Emerson’s English Traits and the Paradox of Empire

Susan L. Roberson 265

Harvard’s “Constructed Utopia” and the Culture of Deception: The Expansion toward the Charles River, 1902–1932

Benjamin J. Sacks 286

Rewriting the Captivity Narrative for Contemporary Children: Speare, Bruchac, and the French and Indian War

Sara L. Schwebel 318

Book Reviews

Eden on the Charles: The Making of Boston, by Michael Rawson

Anthony N. Penna 347

Thoreau the Land Surveyor, by Patrick Chura

Lorianne DiSabato 350

The Sacco-Vanzetti Affair: America on Trial, by Moshik Temkin

Mary Anne Trasciatti 352

Colin Nicolson 355

Defiance of the Patriots: The Boston Tea Party and the Making of America, by Benjamin L. Carp

Mark Peterson 357

Tribe, Race, History: Native Americans in Southern New England, 1780–1880, by Daniel R. Mandell

Brian D. Carroll 363

Venture Smith and the Business of Slavery and Freedom, edited by James Brewer Stewart

Elise Lemire 365

Fruitlands: The Alcott Family and Their Search for Utopia, by Richard Francis

Philip F. Gura 368